VERY EXCITING FOR YOU.

Holistic project management.

You will be responsible for the development and successful implementation of suitable strategies to optimize the supply chain and strategic procurement process. You will demonstrate your entrepreneurial talent in project controlling and in the acquisition of new customers.

Broad range of challenges.

Broad customer portfolios and project assignments at home and abroad for a wide variety of industries and customers. From start-ups, retail, and consumer goods, to the energy and automotive industries or the pharmaceutical and healthcare sectors.

Intensive customer consulting.

You will work closely with customers, be their main contact person and be responsible for conducting your team's workshops, negotiations and presentations.

Specific development.

Your professional expertise will help to drive forward the development of knowledge in our company.

Far-reaching responsibility.

You will ensure that your team develops both professionally and personally. As a member of the INVERTO management team, you can help shape the development of our entire company and give it the necessary impetus.

VERY IMPORTANT FOR US.

University degree with above-average grades and 4-8 years of relevant professional experience.

Extensive expertise in consulting, ideally in procurement / supply chain management and a passion for strategic and operational work.

You have already proven your analytical and conceptual skills at management level in demanding projects. You show full commitment, are customer-oriented and cooperative. You have shown that you can successfully lead teams professionally and personally.

Very INVERTO: Team player. Both feet firmly on the ground. Fair. Fun.

Confident appearance in an international environment, business fluent in English and Spanish, flexible in your professional mobility.
